Arcadia Park Designs

Arcadia Park Design's founder and designer is artist Katherine Henry. Katherine's upbringing in a family of artists and architects saw her formative years running in and out of the studios of world renowned painters and sculptors, photographers and printmakers - creatives and makers. A life in the arts has always been the only life she has ever imagined, and her imagination took her many places! Her fine art photography and sculptural vessels are in collections throughout the states as well as in Europe.

Katherine's interests in alternative printmaking brought her to the digital world when Photoshop was a new concept and digital prints were just making their way into the art world consciousness. Her textiles were born of experiments using digital technology to create images on tactile substrates and her pillows were created to bring that concept into a functional art form to be enjoyed by those that understand and revel in the unique character of the work. As the new art-making tools of the digital age have become more prevalent, Katherine has lent them to her love of home decor to create distinctive and original functional works that blend art, design and decor.

Her travels have left little pieces of Katherine's heart in Paris, across Italy and in the wilds of western Scotland. Her Vermont studio, a reflection of the need to have space and serenity to do her work, is filled with reminders of her love of the inspirational spaces of the world.

Images of Venetian stonework, Parisian wrought iron and Celtic carving grace the walls and find their ways into the design work. Any artful architectural detail that has withstood the passage of time may interest her eye, work it's way into her photography and inform her extraordinary designs.

Arcadia Park Designs is known for the heirloom quality of Katherine's work, the use of opulent luxurious silks, the integrity and unique character of the art-based imagery. Each piece contains a fine art print on silk by the artist and subsequently paired with an elegant silk to create a pillow unlike any others. These pillows look spectacular on sofas of linen, silk, velvet and even leather and bring elegant touches of color to luxurious bedding ensembles.
