subtle nuance of light, all influence the
myriad hues of our silks.

Timeless artistry...

Our limited production bespoke pillow is hand built, using only the finest materials available for our creative process. Each piece is carefully and deliberately designed and printed in Katherine's studio, hidden in the tranquil hills of Vermont.

The studio expands and contracts with the seasons, silk dying, painting and marbling in the barns in the warmer months, research and printing processes when the days turn cool. The ebb and flow of the natural world has a hand in the artistic process.

Our prints begin their life as Katherine's photographs reflecting her interest in art and antiquities. Her travels have taken her to places where the ordinary and the extraordinary mix harmoniously, one of her true inspirations for the pillows and her take on home decor.

The backs of our pillows are carefully considered. Color coordinated dupioni silk is our standard fabric back. Limited editions and custom pieces are paired with silk velvets - plain, embossed or hand stamped, and hand marbled silks.

Every step in the creation of our pillows is accomplished in our studios, the hand of the artist in every nuance. It takes a little longer to create a completely handmade artist designed and created pillow.

We think it is worth every moment.

Barn or chateau, traditional or contemporary?
It isn't so much a particular style that defines us,
more of an attitude.

The creative spirit behind Arcadia Park Designs is artist Katherine Henry. Her photography and sculptural works are in collections throughout the US and in Europe. Raised in a family of artists, her career has spanned the gamut of creative endeavors; consultant, gallerist, studio and creative director, arts administrator and educator.

While always pursuing her fine art photography, Katherine has turned her eye toward an early and
ongoing interest in textiles and home decor,
creating a timeless line of inspired fine art pillows
with imagery based on her photographs and other artistic pursuits.

Arcadia Park is the name of an area in Lexington, KY, built by Katherine's grandfather. Each home he produced, for family or client, was handcrafted of the highest grade materials, no detail overlooked, each a master work he created to be loved for generations.
Katherine continues to believe that quality, attention to detail, passion and enjoyment in the process of creating are the foundations that allow her to share
this work with pride.
